CONFERENCE THEME

June 5 is celebrated as World Environment Day to commit to the cause of protection of the environment and increase awareness amongst people. In the last six decades, the Day serves as a platform to deliberate a range of issues such as marine pollution, human overpopulation, global warming, and wildlife crime. The concept of Rights of Nature has evolved over the past decade on a wide range of national and international issues and it's been reflected in court decisions as well. In the last couple of years, the rivers Ganges and Whanganui, etc. have attracted news for being recognized as possessing legal personality and rights. Rights of Nature have been observed as a catalyst for changing global governance to solve critical environmental challenges.

The theme of this year is 'Only One Earth', highlighting the need to live sustainably in harmony with nature by bringing transformative changes. The policy prescriptions, legal instruments, and advocacy will play a significant role in fulfilling the thematic goal identified this year.

In pursuant to the responsibility toward the cause of the environment, the Hidayatullah National Law University along with the Global Network for Human Rights and the Environment is organizing an International Conference on Rights of Nature for Sustainable Development. The Conference will bring together people from a range of specialists and backgrounds for a cross-disciplinary discussion on the rights of nature
