DSNLJ's CALL FOR PAPERS

Society for Paper Publications, DSNLU is pleased to call for submissions in the form of Articles, Essays, Case Comments, and Book Reviews for the Inaugural Issue of the Damodaram Sanjivayya National Law Journal ("DSNLJ") on the theme of 'UNIFORM CIVIL CODE' and related topics of legal and contemporary relevance from various Students from institutions in India and abroad, Doctoral Fellows, Research Scholars and Academicians.

DSNLJ is a bi-annual, student-edited, peer-reviewed law journal by the Society for Paper Publications, DSNLU. We aspire to carve out a niche in legal discourse and serve as a research arm for practitioners, academicians and the broader intellectual community. DSNLJ aims to render top-quality publications and invites submissions.

THEME: 'UNIFORM CIVIL CODE'

Despite various developments in law and rapid growth in India, our civil code continues to be diversified, spanning different religions. In India, there are different sets of law for divorce, succession of property etc., which are applicable on individuals based on their religion. At this point of time, it becomes important to discuss the need of having a Uniform Civil Code which united all communities while contemplating its legality and constitutionality.

SUB-THEMES:

- A Socio-Legal Perspective
- Uniform Civil Code in Goa
- Comparative Study
- Uniform Divorce Mechanism
- Jurisprudence on Uniform Civil Code
- Uniform Civil Code and Human Rights
- Uniform Civil Code and Gender Justice
- Uniform Civil Code and Conflict of Personal Laws

Note: In addition to the above-mentioned sub-themes, participants are free to pursue any other relevant sub-themes reflecting their own scholarly interests on this topic.
